‘On The Same Page’ Announces Final Events for the 2013 One-book Program

LOUISVILLE, CO — September 25, 2013 — On October 3rd at 7pm, The Night Circus comes to life through ‘Stories on Stage’ at the Louisville Center for the Arts. The Louisville Cultural Council sponsored the ‘Stories on Stage’ programs out of the belief that literature is a rich source of ideas, and actors enhance the impact that literature can have on people’s lives.

Anne Penner, a professional actor and director and assistant professor of theater at DU, will perform readings from this fantastical tale that has been hailed as, “So sparkingly alive, you’ll swear the pages are breathing in your hands” by The Boston Globe. There will also be magic and circus-related activities.

Dave Elstun

On Sunday, October 6th at 1pm, The Amazing Dave Elstun and his wife Connie Elstun will conclude this year’s program the way it began—with a comedy magic show. In fact, there will be two shows performed simultaneously at the Louisville Library—one for children and one for teens and adults.

All ‘On The Same Page’ programs are free and open to the public.
