Louisville Library Features Local Authors Presentation

Wayne Lee and Maggie Snyder's "Louisville: At Home in a Small Town"

LOUISVILLE, CO — July 26, 2011 — On Thursday, August 11, 2011 at 7:00 pm, local authors Wayne Lee and Maggie Snyder will talk about how they put together their new book, a collection of contemporary art photography made in Louisville over the course of a year.

The authors worked closely with the Louisville Historical Museum and the Museum's Coordinator Bridget Bacon to research Louisville's beginnings as a coal mining town. They also interviewed members of Louisville's legacy families, and their personal stories are woven into the pages of this book, which explores themes of self-reliance, community, celebration, family, and traditions.

After the presentation the authors will sign copies of their book, which will be available for purchase at the Library.
