Tiny Houses with a History

By Bridget Bacon, Museum Coordinator

Today, the “tiny house” movement is leading many people to choose to downsize the space in which they live. Reasons include financial concerns and a desire for increased sustainability. For many, the desire to live more simply is a reaction to more ostentatious lifestyles.

In Louisville and in many other places, small houses and tiny houses were the most typical type of dwelling. Coal miners made so little money that they and their families surely considered themselves fortunate to have a home with a yard, even if that home consisted of only a few hundred square feet of living space. Often, these houses were constructed by the miners themselves during the summers when mines were closed, and most had no running water or indoor bathrooms until the 1950s.

To judge from the popularity of the tiny house movement, it is clear that the simplicity of Louisville’s historic miners’ houses has broad appeal today. Enjoy these images of Louisville’s original small and tiny houses taken in 1948 by the Boulder County Assessor’s office. (To see more County Assessor card images for Louisville, visit www.louisville-library.org and look for the link for the Museum website.)

To learn more about Louisville’s original tiny houses, be sure to attend the Brown Bag program on Thursday, March 3rd from 12 to 1 PM in the Louisville Public Library meeting room.

This tiny house at 1425 Cannon, located in Louisville’s Little Italy neighborhood and built in about 1900, consisted of just 375 square feet before a small addition of 100 square feet was added to the side. It has since been further enlarged. It was the longtime home of Gaetano and Tessie Grotto.

The Tomeo House, which can be toured at the Louisville Historical Museum at 1001 Main St., originally consisted of 392 square feet, to which a 216 square foot kitchen was added. From the 1920s to the 1940s, it was the home of widow Grace Rossi and her six children.

1155 Pine is not much larger than it was when this photo was taken in 1948 and it was made up of 492 square feet. At that time, it was the home of Emile and Pauline Desailly. A bathroom was later added, bringing it to 537 square feet, and that is still its approximate size.

1116 Main consisted of 448 square feet before later additions were constructed.

1131 Spruce is located in the Miners Field neighborhood. It was originally made up of just 266 square feet and is listed on the Louisville Register of Historic Places.

Members of Louisville's Porta family owned 1124 La Farge, which consisted of 280 square feet and was made up of two rooms: a kitchen and a bedroom. In the 1950s and 1960s, it was the home of Lillian Porta Arnott and her husband, Robert Arnott. One can see the home's outhouse to the right of the photo. The house was later relocated.

The size of 948 Parkview, in the heart of the Frenchtown neighborhood, is virtually unchanged since its size of about 550 square feet in 1948. It has been owned by members of the French Warembourg/Delier family for over eighty years.

This home at 614 Grant originally consisted of 392 square feet.

2016 Pioneer Award Recipients: Ted & Carolyn Manzanares

Presented by Paula Elrod, Louisville Historical Commission

The Louisville Historical Commission is pleased to announce that Ted & Carolyn Manzanares are this year's recipients of the Pioneer Award. This award is presented annually to a person or persons who have contributed to the welfare and interest of the Louisville community. Paula Elrod presented the award to Ted & Carolyn on January 27th at the Louisville Chamber of Commerce Awards Banquet.

Carolyn was born in Boulder, Colorado, and her parents were Vince Mangus and Flora Parise Mangus. Carolyn lived and grew up in her family's home at 500 Spruce Street in Louisville with her two brothers, Vince and Bill, and her younger sister, Nancy. Her father, Vince Mangus, was born in Louisville to his parents who came to Louisville from Italy. Her grandfather Mangus tried to work in the coal mines but for some reason could not, so he opened a clothing store, which was located on at the corner of Main and Spruce Street. This is the building where the Double Happy Restaurant is located today. The Mangus family owned that building until about 10 years ago. Her mother, Flora, was born on the western slope in a small town outside of Grand Junction, Colorado where her family lived until moving to Lafayette.

Ted and Carolyn Manzanares.

Ted was born in Longmont, Colorado. His parents were David Manzanares Sr. and Marguerite Duarte Manzanares. Ted lived and grew up in Lafayette, Colorado with his three brothers, Charles "Johnny," David Jr., and Ronald "Nares," and his sister Pearl. Ted's dad was born in Walsenburg, Colorado and his mother was born in Erie, Colorado and grew up on a small farm outside of Lafayette. Ted's dad, Dave, was a plumber and owned his own plumbing business in Lafayette. His mother, Maggie, was a homemaker who was very busy raising her five children. Ted said he remembers when he was a kid going and picking beans at the farms in Brighton and Fort Lupton with his brothers, a truck would pick them up around 4:30 in the morning and drop them off around 6:30 in the evening.

Carolyn attended St. Louis Catholic Grade School and Louisville High School, from which she graduated in 1963. Carolyn then attended Colorado State University in Fort Collins until she and Ted were married. Carolyn said some of her greatest memories growing up in Louisville were during the summer months playing with the Melleckers and riding her bike up South Boulder Road and all around Louisville. They would collect bottles and turn them in for money so they could go to the drug store/soda fountain and buy things.

Ted attended Lafayette Elementary School and Lafayette High School, from which he graduated from in 1958. After graduating high school, Ted attended Trinidad Junior College in Trinidad, Colorado on a wrestling scholarship. He then transferred to the University of Colorado, where he continued to wrestle on a wrestling scholarship. Ted said that school at CU was a little harder, so he quit wrestling to concentrate on studying. While Ted was at CU, he worked evenings at Rocky Flats Plant and attended his classes at CU during the day. He decided to take a break from school for one semester, and shortly after deciding to do so, he was drafted into the Army where he served from 1963 through 1965.

Ted and Carolyn were married in 1967 at St. Thomas Aquinas Catholic Church in Boulder, Colorado and began raising their family. They have one daughter Sherri, one son Marc, and four grandchildren.

Ted was working at Rocky Flats Plant and bartending at the Blue Parrot Restaurant when he and Carolyn decided to open their own restaurant in Louisville, "Senor T's," serving Mexican food. They opened their doors in September 1972 in the historic Red & White Grocery building in the 700 block of Main Street, which is now the location of the Melting Pot restaurant. Carolyn's family had owned and operated the Red & White Grocery Store in the early 1900s. Senor T's restaurant was located at this location for about six years, but because of Ted and Carolyn's strong work ethic, endurance, and the way they treated their patrons, they built a large clientele, which meant that they needed more space. They purchased the old Rex Theater building at 817 Main Street and remodeled it to move the restaurant so they could have more space to serve their patrons. On the menu were such Mexican favorites as enchiladas, burritos, quesadillas, chimichangas, tamales, and chile rellenos. They opened at this location in 1978 and were there until they sold the building and closed Senor T's in September 2008.

During this time, Ted and Carolyn were very committed to serving the Louisville community. They were always giving back to the community with their generous support of the local schools, scholarship funds, the Boy Scouts and Girl Scouts, Little League sports, Girls Softball, Adult Softball, the Louisville Downtown Business Association, the Louisville Chamber of Commerce and the Louisville Historical Museum. Along with their monetary donations, they also donated many hours of their time to various community causes over the years. Ted was a volunteer coach for little league baseball and wrestling.

My husband, Bill, and I were involved with many of the youth sports programs during this time and knew that we could always depend on Ted and Carolyn to help support any of the youth sports programs. All we needed to do was ask and they were always there to help in any way necessary. Along with supporting these programs, they also provided jobs for many people in the Louisville/Lafayette area over the years.

Ted and Carolyn were presented with the Small Business of the Year Award (previously known as the Business Person of the Year Award) by the Louisville Chamber of Commerce in 1990; they were inducted into the Boulder County Business Hall of Fame in 2005; and in 2007 they were the Grand Marshals of the Louisville Labor Day Parade. The State of Colorado paid tribute to Ted and Carolyn for their contributions to the Louisville community and their 30+ years in business.

When they were inducted into the Boulder County Business Hall of Fame Ted and Carolyn said they try to live their daily motto: "Do kindness to your fellow man now, as we will not pass this way again."

It is my distinct honor and privilege as a member of the Louisville Historical Commission to present the 2016 Pioneer Award to two exceptional people whom I am very proud to regard as longtime friends, Ted and Carolyn Manzanares.

Operator: "Number Please."

By Megan Huelman, Museum Technician

Who knew telephony could be so fascinating? Or bring back such nostalgic memories! After collecting numerous phones from the past century and talking to an operator from our very own Telephone Exchange, I can safely say that while the look of our phones has significantly changed, the functions have not. Our modern phones are now connected to the internet and are capable of telling us almost anything. But back in the first half of the 20th century, so could a telephone operator! Did you know that doctors and priests could receive wake up calls much like an alarm clock? Residents even called the Exchange for weather and sports reports. In cases of emergencies, the Exchange was quick to notify authorities and call appropriate parties. These are all things our phones do today, though admittedly with more efficiency.

In December I visited Tiffany Boyd's second grade classroom at Louisville Elementary to give a short presentation on the Telephone Exchange and play games with rotary phones and old cell phones. The kids were astonished at how long it took to dial a number on a rotary phone! If you are an educator and interested in bringing this program into your class/group, please email me at meganh@louisvilleco.gov.

Thanks to Duke Damiana for stopping by to discuss her time at the Louisville Telephone Exchange. Her knowledge of early phones and the switchboard was invaluable!

Also, thank you to those who so graciously donated their vintage phones: Arlene Leggett, Sylvia Kilker, Lisa Merly, and Shirley Fox. Children are already enjoying them!

Louisville History Foundation News By Marilyn Hunt, Director

Last Spring, the Monarch National Honor Society Social Studies students generously gave of their time and talents to Louisville! Pictured are, L to R: Grace Newell, Amanda Zale, Lily Nussbaum, Samantha Williams, Mallory Prentiss, Noah Leuthaeuser, Meghan Ryterski, Madi Yost, and John Honan. They photographed every building from the front and side in a four block area of historic downtown as a way to document a single point in time what this area looks like for future generations. The Louisville History Foundation appreciates their cheery attitude and fine photographic skills.

The Louisville History Foundation directors also wish to thank the many donors who gave their money to the Louisville Law Enforcement Memorial at Helburg Park over the course of the last three years. We even received two donations at the end of 2015, including a $1000 anonymous donation! The Louisville History Foundation served as the fiscal sponsor for the community group, which enabled its members to use the Foundation's tax-exempt status to attract donors. Their efforts paid off in a big way. LHF has concluded its fiscal sponsorship by proving all funds as a grant to the City of Louisville. We look forward to the new memorial at the Louisville Police Station!

Louisville History Book Club
By Anne Robinson,
Historical Commission Member

The History Book Club meets from 6:00 to 7:45 PM on the second Wednesday of each month from September to May in the second floor Board Room of the Louisville Public Library. Unlike most book clubs in which members all read the same book, in this book club we select a topic and everyone reads what they wish on the topic. Participants read books or articles and we discuss what we learned with the group. Members of the public are welcome to join us, and newcomers should feel free to come and observe.

February Topic: Italian Immigrants in Colorado
Wednesday, February 10, 2016

March Topic: Zebulon Pike & Early Explorers in Colorado
Wednesday, March 9, 2016

April Topic: The Utes
Wednesday, April 13, 2016

May Topic: The Ku Klux Klan in Colorado

Oral History Program Update

Thank you so much to the following people for allowing the Museum to interview them about their memories of Louisville! (As a token of our appreciation, a complimentary annual membership is given to each participant who is not already a lifetime member.)

Robert Del Pizzo
Darleen Del Pizzo
Sara Martinelli
Lenny Martinelli
Nettie Jenkins Rooks
Nellie Jenkins Hoedel
Bob Canaday

Also, thank you so much to the team of volunteers who have been working on the Museum's Oral History Program: Barbara Gigone, Jean Morgan, Ady Kupfner, Noelle Gatto, Dustin Sagrillo, Barbara Hesson, David Kuykendall, and Corrine Stewart. Welcome to new volunteers Tessa Greene and Betty Solek!

If you'd like to help with this fun program, we have a need for more volunteer interviewers and camera operators as well as volunteers to transcribe the interviews. Training will be provided. Please contact the Historical Museum.

Don't Miss an Issue of The Louisville Historian!

Membership in the Louisville History Foundation is a must for those interested in Louisville's unique history and cultural character! Members receive the quarterly Louisville Historian with substantive articles about Louisville history.

A yearly membership is $15.00 for an individual and $25.00 for a family. A yearly Business Sponsorship is $100.00.

You may pick up a membership form at the Historical Museum, visit the Museum website at www.louisville-library.org to print out a membership form, or call the Museum at 303-665-9048 for assistance. You may also join and renew online at www.louisvillehistoryfoundation.org. Please make any checks payable to the Louisville History Foundation, Inc.

Upcoming Historical Programming

The public is invited to join us for our upcoming programs! For more information, please visit www.louisville-library.org; email museum@louisvilleco.gov; or call the Museum at 303-665-9048.

Brown Bag Presentation, Thursday, March 3, Noon to 1 PM
"Tiny Houses with a History"

Today, the "tiny house" movement is leading many people to choose to live in smaller spaces, but in Louisville, the most typical dwellings for many decades were tiny houses. In fact, many of the existing houses in Old Town were originally modest-sized houses that were later enlarged. Join us for the next Brown Bag program, where we'll take a look at the topic of the lead article of this Louisville Historian issue and view images of some of Louisville's original tiny houses.

Participants are welcome to bring their lunches. Location: first floor meeting room of the Louisville Public Library, 951 Spruce Street.

Look for Other Upcoming Programs This Year

Look for more historical programs from the Museum this year! We're planning programming to accompany the First Friday Art Walks and we'll also offer our regular Brown Bag presentations and summer downtown walking tours. In particular, for some of the year's programs we'll focus on a topic that has never been researched before: Louisville's French population and the historic neighborhood of Frenchtown, which was located in the vicinity of Rex and Parkview Streets.

The Museum Corner
Bridget Bacon, Museum Coordinator

I have many people to thank! Thank you so much to Museum volunteers Mona Lee Doersam (for donating her talents and time to do the layout of every issue of The Louisville Historian), Deborah Fahey, Gail Khasawneh, Kate Gerard, Rebecca Harney, Patricia Lester, Carolyn Conarroe, Christine Gray, Mary Kay Knorr, Patricia Murphy, Mary Ann Colacci, Brian Parchman, Memory Delforge, Carol Williams, Dave Hooley, Julie Schumaker, Dick DelPizzo, and Ardeshir Sabeti. (The volunteers for the Oral History Program are thanked elsewhere in this issue.) Welcome to new volunteers Peter DellaVecchia, Samantha Mat, Karen Dropps, Bonnie Etchieson, and Colin Crawford.

Thank you to those who have contributed information about Louisville history. In the past few months, these people have included Betsy Harrah and Melody Wing, Gary Schneider, Michael Kokes, and Evelyn Santilli. Thank you to Terence Kelley for giving information about the Ostrander family of Louisville to the Museum. His grandmother was Hazel Ostrander Kelley and she grew up at 741 Lincoln. Thank you to Shawn C. Zerges of Georgia whose grandfather, Paul Zerges, was one of the federal troops stationed in Louisville in 1914. He came across the article about the federal troops contained in the Fall 2014 Louisville Historian, now available online, and got in touch! Thank you to Barbara Hesson, Robert Varra, and Dorothy Varra for their help with identifying Monarch Mine Camp locations on a map, and thank you to Manuel Alcalá for getting in touch regarding his family having lived at the Monarch Mine Camp. Last, thank you to Kelly McHugh for getting in touch from Arizona!

A recent Museum visitor was Richard Smith, who taught English and Drama at Louisville High School during the school year of 1970-71. He would welcome being contacted by former students and former fellow teachers! Please let the Museum know if you would like to get in touch with him.

Veterans buried in the Louisville Cemetery were honored at the Wreaths Across America ceremony in December. Thank you to the Broomfield Rotary for its sponsorship, and our appreciation goes to Paula Elrod, Eugene DiCarlo, and Patty Lester for being able to identify additional veterans buried in the cemetery.

Louis Gaz's written driving tour of mine sites in the area, which Jean Morgan wrote up last year, is available from the Museum upon request for anyone interested in doing the driving tour.

In December, Louise Stevens of Artsmarket, Inc. visited Louisville and met with many different Museum constituencies and interest groups in preparation for writing a business plan for the Historical Museum. Her report will be one of the elements of the Museum Master Plan. We greatly appreciate having the benefit of her expertise!

The City Council appointed Gordon Madonna to be a member of the Historical Commission and reappointed Dan Mellish to the Commission. And welcome back to Jay Keany, who will again serve as the City Council liaison to the Commission, as he has done in the past. Thank you to Chris Leh for having served as the City Council liaison in 2015.

In December, Dave Ferguson and Anne Robinson finished their terms on the Historical Commission, but both plan to continue their long involvement with the Museum. Dave served on the Commission since 1994 and held the office of treasurer for many years when the Commission was also a 501c3 nonprofit corporation. Anne, who was appointed in 2008, plans to continue to give historical walking tours of downtown in the summer and to be involved in other ways. Thank you to Dave and Anne for their many years of service!

Donations to the Museum's Collection and Records

The Louisville Historical Museum accepted the following donations during the months of November through January.. The City sincerely appreciates these recent donations!

Marilyn Hunt – 1988 map of Louisville and documents chronicling the Enclave neighborhood.

Barry Barrows – ten yearbooks from Centaurus High School, which Louisville students used to attend. These were on the Museum's wish list.

Derold Harmon – videotape of 1940s Louisville High School football, from a film shot by his father, Ralph Harmon, who taught at the school.

Monarch High School students – current photos that they took of buildings on Main Street and Front Street for a volunteer project.

Sylvia Kilker – Naeve family photos and certificates, and a 1978 Louisville Centennial plaque.

Tony Draper – 1975 yearbook from Centaurus High School, which Louisville students used to attend. This was on the Museum's wish list.

Barbara Hesson – American Legion Auxiliary capelet worn by Louisville resident Mae Goodhue in Labor Day parades.

Dave Ferguson – serving bowl used by Louisville's Catholic women for their annual chicken dinners used to raise money for the St. Louis Church.

Curtis Vogt – two cartoon maps of Louisville dated 2000.

Jim Hartnagle – wooden Carnation box sent to Ludwig Eberharter at the Eberharter store at 805 La Farge in circa 1915-16. It appears to have originally contained boxes of cereal.

Fred Stones – pay telephone that was used in Boulder County.

Louisville Methodist Church – two updated booklets of Methodist Church history entitled "A Cloud of Witnesses" and produced in celebration of the 125th anniversary of the founding of the Church in 1891.

Museum Wish List

The Louisville Historical Museum would like to add to its collection the items described below. If you would be willing to donate any of the described items, please email museum@louisvilleco.gov or call 303-665-9048. If you would prefer not to part with an original photo or document, please contact us about how it can be scanned on our photo scanner. Donations to the Museum are tax deductible. This 1920s photo shows students in front of the school, with 829 Garfield and 841 Garfield across the street reflected in the windows.

More Photos of Louisville's Old High School! By Bridget Bacon, Museum Coordinator

The Summer 2015 issue of The Louisville Historian focused on the old high school building located on the southeast corner of Garfield and Walnut. Pictured here, it was the high school from 1920 to 1939 and was later made into two apartment buildings. For the Museum program on the topic of "Louisville's Neighborhood High School" last September, I showed even more interesting photos of the school and am sharing some of them here with our readers as a follow-up to last summer's lead article.

The stairs behind the current apartment buildings date from 1920, when the high school was built. They led to the back entrance of the old high school. Today, they lead to a courtyard between the two apartment buildings that were made from the old school.
