To who it may concern

I attended the first ever louisvill pride event today and was disapointed at the lack of lgbtq+ awarness i understand though this is your first event but there were only 6 booths and 3 of those were shops selling wares that had nothing to do with pride 2 of booths the library and the painting booth was the only repersentation of the community the last booth was empty with no info on it as a member of the lgbtq community we had higher expectation for your first event it felt like our community was not fully respected or repersented by the town and many pride attended turned and left furious that we were shoved down some alcove out of the way i understand also that you have other events like the vendor market there but this could of been done next month pride is once a year were as vendors can sell there wares and promote buissness any other month of the year as a town you need to represent the lgbtq community more and focus less on a profit margin ill give you guys a 1 star out of 10 for at least trying and a congrats to the two booths that tryed there best in the shadow of the other whatever festivle was going on please try to be more inclusive and larger next year

Nathan Zuck,

It is 3:30 in the morning, and a plane has been circling over our neighborhood for the past 30 minutes. This type of repetitive maneuvering over residential areas seems dangerous and unnecessary.

This follows a pattern we've been tracking. Over the past week, we've had 1677 aircraft pass overhead at an average altitude of just 733 feet. During peak times, planes come over every minute or less. The noise is constant, but my bigger concern is safety.

Today's circling aircraft highlights how some pilots treat our neighborhoods like their personal practice area. Low altitude repeated patterns over homes creates unnecessary risk. If there's an engine failure or control problem during these maneuvers, people on the ground could be hurt.

I understand training flights need practice areas, but surely there are less populated locations for this activity. Can you review whether current flight training procedures adequately protect residential areas? Are there altitude minimums or pattern restrictions that should be enforced more strictly?

The volume and altitude of traffic over Superior has increased significantly. We need RMMA operations to better balance training needs with community safety.

Please look into today's incident and consider whether current oversight of training flights is sufficient.

J.C. McGuire
Superior, Colorado

Louisville City Council,

No one, not even City Council has the right to make one of its citizens feel unwelcome, uncomfortable, and not included in my own public library.

There is only one flag that represents us all and that of course is the American flag.
The LBGTQ flag flying at my public library is an affront, disgracing and humiliating us who believe the flag is an abomination of sexual perversions.
This flag does not represent us all.

Please remove the offending flag and fly the American and Colorado flags only.

Thanks,
Justin Deister

Subject: Invitation to June Events
Date: Thursday, June 4, 2026 11:15:56 AM

Hello Mayor Leh and City Council Members,

I know some members of the Cultural Advisory Board joined the meeting on Tuesday to invite you to our upcoming summer events, and I wanted to follow up with a written invitation as well!

We have a lot of exciting events and activities planned for the month of June. We hope you might be able to join us for one or more of the following:

Louisville PRIDE Festival

Saturday, June 6 from 9am - 3pm at the intersection of Main St and Spruce St

This is Louisville's first ever Pride event and we can't wait to bring out the community paint by numbers mural!

Fire Station Block Party

Sunday, June 14 from 2 - 5pm at Louisville's Fire Station 1

I can hardly believe that this is already the 5th iteration of this event.. And I think this year's will be by far the best one.

Summer Concerts in the Park

Thursdays starting June 18 from 6:30 - 8:15pm at Community Park

The line up for this year should have something for everyone

Finally, I am not sure if my Board Members mentioned it, but the Find the Pomodoro Scavenger Hunt will be launching tomorrow, June 5! You may already have noticed some tomato shaped art popping up around town... everyone who finds all 8 art pieces gets a prize!

Thank you for your attention to this long list of updates, and I look forward to seeing you around over the next month!

Best,

Iris Belensky

Good Evening Mayor and Council Members

Please remember in 2004 when the Louisville electorate voted overwhelmingly to support Fastracks and now 22 years later, you have a chance to make this happen. We have lived through so many disappointments and without playing the blame game, we now have an opportunity through the efforts of many to move one step closer to having a rail station in Louisville and train service to Denver/Boulder/Ft.Collins.

Please pass this resolution resoundingly and unequivocally.

My sincerest gratitude.

Historic Property

The Weaver House

823 Garfield

The Weaver House is located in the Louisville Heights Addition and is one of the few Louisville homes with an Edwardian Vernacular architectural style. Records show that in 1909, Mary I. Todd Weaver purchased lots 5-9 in this addition.

Although the County Assessor gives 1913 as the year of construction, it is believed that it was actually built in 1910. Mary Weaver and her husband John Weaver, who was a teamster in Louisville, hired carpenter John Unger to build their house. An article in the Louisville Times indicates that this home may have been the first to have indoor plumbing and central heating. John Weaver passed away in 1926 and Mary Weaver rented out rooms to school teachers as the home was close to Louisville High School. In 1936, Mary Weaver conveyed ownership to her daughter, Ruth Weaver Machin and the house was rented until she sold it in 1946 to the Berry siblings as a home for their parents, Ira and Hope Berry. Ira Berry worked as a coal miner in Louisville and Hope Berry was an active member of the Garden Club and known for her beautiful garden. The home had a few owners between 1972 and 1985, after Hope Berry sold it, but Ron and Linda Knutson bought the house in 1985 and live there currently.

Subject: Affordable apartments on the Gaia parking lot

Dear Council members:

I walk behind the Gaia office building several times a week, and I noticed how empty their parking lot is, and what a great location it would be for a several story affordable apartment building. Is there any way that the city could approach Gaia and see if they would be amenable to building an apartment building on the back of their lot? I suspect there are all kinds of financial incentives (they would have first call on several of the apartments, etc.) that might encourage them to cooperate with the city on this project.

While I was thinking of this project, it also occurred to me that it might be a good idea to put floating solar panels on the Louisville Reservoir. They would reduce evaporation and the city's electrical bill.

Thanks for serving our city and reading my suggestions,

I'll be out of town on June 2nd, so I'm not able to attend the meeting on this topic.

I did attend a meeting at the Lafayette YMCA a few weeks ago put on by the developers. We appreciate that they took the time to do this. I've attached my notes from that meeting.

We live at the north end of Steel Ranch Park, the second house in from the proposed development.

We've lived here for nearly fifteen years and have seen all of the proposals as they came and went. The first one, The Foundry, was very popular among the neighbors, but we accept that it was not economically viable. We also understand that, if a plan that included commercial was feasible, we'd have seen it in the ensuing decade. Much as we'd like a coffee shop, we're accepting of the fact that some form of residential development is the only practical way for the owners to see a return on their investment.

We're supportive of this proposal because the developers have listened to the concerns of the neighbors about the last (awful) submission and suggest one-to-two story structures along Kaylix Avenue, transitioning to taller buildings along 95th St. We also like that the development is targeted toward seniors as we believe there is a need, and that it fits in nicely with the demographics of the patio homes surrounding other three sides of the park. The plan from the YMCA meeting showed access from Paschal and Summit View only, and we like this. The patio homes were built by Boulder Creek Neighborhoods, the same builders that are part of the proposal, so we are comfortable that it will be a quality build.

Speaking to the concerns expressed at the YMCA meeting, Firstly, we all bought houses in the subdivision knowing that this property was going to be developed. Even single-story homes along 95th St. would obstruct the westward view, so I'm not sure I understand the argument. Secondly, we appreciate the risks associated with building condos for sale and the reasons for making them rentals. Walking through North Main and seeing how well-kept it is should dissipate any concerns that a well-managed rental development, especially one housing seniors, would detract from our properties. Thirdly, we've had 15 years of easy parking on Kaylix and, regardless of what development eventually goes in there, it's a public street and there will be much greater competition. We have to accept that.

We may have plenty to say once the proposal moves from a concept to a plan, but at this stage it has our whole-hearted approval

Dave Ireland & Nancy Johnson

2358 Park Ln, Louisville, CO 80027

I attended a meeting at the YMCA in Lafayette put on by Boulder Creek Neighborhoods. These are my notes.

They presented a preliminary vision for an 8-acre parcel located on 95th Street, south of Paschal Drive and north of Summit Drive. The developers, including Mike Cooper and CEO David Sinkey, emphasized that this is not a final site plan but a "first conversation" intended to gather feedback from Steel Ranch residents.

Project Vision and Rationale

The proposed development is a senior-targeted, high-density rental community. The shift toward higher density is driven by recent changes to the City of Louisville's Comprehensive Plan, which now labels this parcel for mixed-use or higher-density housing to promote development along major transit corridors. The developers argued that this type of "missing middle" housing provides a necessary "relief valve" for seniors who wish to downsize from large single-family homes but want lower maintenance than a patio home.

Site Design and Scale

- Building Heights: To address concerns about neighborhood blending, the plan proposes three-to-four-story buildings along 95th Street and a transition down to one-to-two-story attached housing along Kaylix Avenue.
- Unit Counts: The vision includes approximately 150 to 175 units in the higher-density buildings along 95th Street and 24 to 30 units along Kaylix Avenue.
- Open Space: The concept features a "spine park" to connect with Steel Ranch Park and internal gardens for residents. The developers also intend to maintain a trail along 95th Street.

Key Concerns and Resident Feedback

- Rentals vs. Ownership: Many residents questioned why the units must be rentals. The developers explained that Colorado's construction defect laws make building "for sale" condominiums economically unfeasible due to the high risk of predatory class-action lawsuits.
- Parking and Traffic: Neighbors expressed significant concern regarding spillover parking on Kaylix Avenue. In response, the developers stated their goal is to keep vehicular circulation and parking (including structured or underground options) internal to the buildings to minimize the impact on the surrounding streets. While a formal traffic study has not yet been conducted, they noted that senior populations typically generate less traffic during peak rush hours.
- Views: Residents noted that the taller buildings might obstruct mountain views from 95th Street. The developers clarified that while they are trying to capture views for new residents, "view preservation" for the street is not a primary project goal.
- Cumulative Impact: Residents voiced frustration over local developments being reviewed in "isolation," leading to concerns about the total impact on traffic and infrastructure across the Louisville and Lafayette borders.
- Support: Several attendees thanked the presenters for including the neighborhood at this stage in the process and expressed support.

Next Steps

The developers characterized this as a very early stage in a multi-year process. Following this meeting, they plan to:

1. Refine the product based on resident feedback.
2. Engage with City Council for a concept review, which is a non-binding introduction to the project.
3. Eventually conduct formal traffic and environmental studies if the project moves forward.

Subject: Update on Fire Smart Louisville
Date: Tuesday, May 26, 2026 4:58:17 PM

Dear Mayor Leh and City Council Members,

Thank you to the City Communications staff for this email promoting the matching rebates that Fire Smart Louisville (FSL) is offering with Wildfire Partners (WP)! I thought this was a good opportunity to give you an update on the first few months of effort on Fire Smart Louisville through Boulder Watershed Collective.

You may remember on February 17 the new Fire Smart Louisville initiative was rolled out at the LFPD Open House at Station #1. Louisville Neighborhood Resilience Coalition (LNRC) members partnered with the Boulder Watershed Collective (BWC) to launch this voluntary, neighborhood-based program for wildfire mitigation. Boulder Watershed applied for a $10,000 grant from the National Fire Protection Association for FSL activities, which they received in April. That grant is the source of the funds for the $250 matching rebates for Louisville residents approved for Wildfire Partners rebates, and will support other materials and direct expenses for neighborhood events.

In addition to starting these financial incentives, Fire Smart Louisville has accomplished since February:

- Two Louisville-wide community education events with Wildfire Partners and the LFPD
- A formal community assessment by WP for North End Townhomes HOA, which is now incorporating recommendations into maintenance and improvement plans
- Two door-to-door canvass events, an informal assessment, and a neighborhood presentation in the Miners Field neighborhood with WP, the LFPD, and Boulder County's Office of Disaster Management.

Ongoing communications with volunteers from 12 other neighborhoods to define and implement projects.

- Networking and collaboration with the LFPD, Boulder County agencies, Fire Adapted Communities, and other related organizations state-wide.
- Planning additional community-wide events with the LFPD and the City.

Fire Smart Louisville is currently operating with volunteers from the LNRC and a few hours per week of labor from Boulder Watershed. The BWC has an official role from the 2024 Boulder County Community Wildfire Preparedness Plan as the NGO charged with "community engagement, building Fire Adapted Communities [FAC], and building capacity in local municipalities and fire districts" in the forest and grassland areas of [southern] Boulder County. (See CWPP page J-38.) They have trained FAC specialists working in communities from Gold Hill to the City of Boulder on mitigation and engagement. They are funded for this county-wide work through a grant from BoCo's Strategic Fuels Mitigation Grant program and have separate grants from multiple sources for more targeted programs. BWC is uniquely well-suited to help Louisville develop neighborhood mitigation and engagement programs.

Councilmember Cooperman, I really appreciate the ideas you offered in February, and now that we have our legs under us, we'd love to follow up on your offer to help us engage with your neighborhood. Our first step is typically for Kirin or Julien from BWC and I to walk through the neighborhood with the volunteer to get a feel for the neighborhood and discuss possible ways to engage. I'll follow up with you separately to see if we can schedule this with you. And we'd be happy to work with other Council members to engage your neighborhoods too!

Happy to answer any questions or discuss...

Ann Brennan

Council members:

We will be out of town for the council meeting on the development of the land in Steel Ranch off 95th, and adjacent to Paschal Drive and Kaylix. So just a brief note on our support for this project.

We are really excited about this concept of a plan to have housing for elder residents. After 10 years of different plans that never fit into this location, this one is a needed one that older people and their heirs have probably not thought about. The single housing is perfect for people wanting to sell their house and move to a non maintenance location. And the buildings for apartments are something that will be well received. The three story buildings will also provide some relief from the road noises on 95th. We have talked to several neighbors who fully support this project also. The idea of having a step between home ownership, and moving into a care facility is a great opportunity.

Boulder Creek Neighborhoods is a builder that maintains the surrounding area architecture, and will do a great job of adapting to have this project blend in. They are good at getting neighborhood feedback about their projects.

So we hope that will you truly consider approving of this plan. It will be a new concept for our great town to be an example,

Sincerely,
Jim and Dee Kehl

Nathan Zuck,

Touch and go training started at 5 AM this morning and woke my one year old son. It's now 6 AM and aircraft are still passing overhead every few minutes, making it impossible for anyone to get back to sleep.

Over the past week, I've tracked 1794 overflights above our neighborhood, with planes passing as frequently as every minute during busy training periods. Most are flying around 700 feet, which means we hear every engine clearly inside our homes.

Starting training operations at 5 AM is not operationally necessary. It appears to be a deliberate choice that shows complete disregard for the community below. I've heard reports of flight instructors making dismissive comments about residents who raise concerns about these patterns.

The current situation lacks any reasonable limits or accountability. Training flights could easily be scheduled during normal daytime hours without compromising pilot education or airport operations.

I'm requesting that you enforce reasonable training hours that respect the community and implement clear disciplinary measures for instructors who operate outside acceptable timeframes or show disregard for residents.

These early morning operations are affecting families with young children, shift workers trying to sleep, and anyone who expects basic courtesy from aviation training activities.

The data shows this is a pattern problem, not isolated incidents. Please review current training schedules and implement changes that balance pilot education with community respect.

Thank you for addressing this issue promptly.

Hi Mayor & City Council,

You may know a local Strong Towns group has recently formed in Louisville to explore how to make Louisville financially strong and resilient based on sound community development principles - "placemaking". The Strong Towns web site is full of resources, articles, a learning academy, podcasts etc, - that assists efforts at the local level. There is so much worthwhile and relevant info its hard to decide what to specifically share. However, this recent Strong Towns Podcast, a discussion with US representative Jake Auchincloss about localism (local power) in addressing some of our toughest challenges, such as housing, is one I thought you may be interested in checking out.

Nathan,

Touch and go training started before 6am this morning and woke my kid up. This is happening way too often.

1370 planes flew over our house this week at just 728 feet. During busy times, there's a plane every minute. My child can't sleep through constant engine noise and practice landings right overhead.

Sleep deprivation affects kids' development, immune systems, and ability to learn. The stress from being jolted awake by aircraft engines is damaging to young nervous systems.

A grown man's hobby shouldn't harm every child in this neighborhood. If this outdated training method must continue, at least enforce reasonable hours. No touch and goes before 7am or after sunset.

Our kids deserve better than this.

May

May's Community Connections brings you updates on how RTD is improving its system—from adding rail connections and increasing service frequencies to enhancing safety and visibility with the Transit Police's new Bus and Rail Impact Team. As summer kicks off, come aboard the new, no-cost Westracks shuttle—funded through RTD's Partnership Program—for easy access to Morrison's most popular destinations. We're also celebrating a major milestone: the A Line marked its 10th anniversary. And along Colfax, construction is steadily moving the BRT project forward, to bring faster, more reliable service to life. Read on to discover how RTD is continuing to make lives better through connections.

How June's service changes will update your trip planning

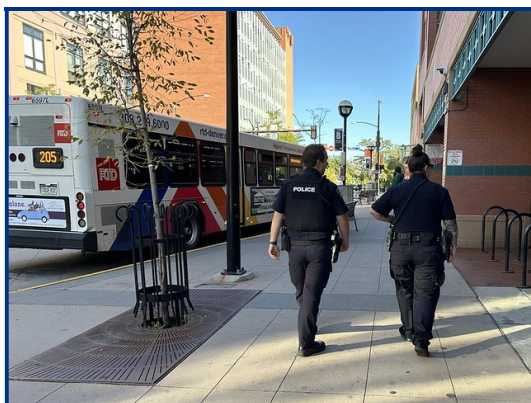

RTD is rolling out its summer service changes on June 7, bringing new rail connections and more frequent buses and trains. The C Line returns, a temporary T Line launches, and increased service on the B and G lines will help keep everyone moving during the Downtown Rail Reconstruction Project. Several bus routes are expanding service thanks to a Clean Transit Enterprise grant.

Transit Police introduce Bus and Rail Impact Team to patrol hot spots

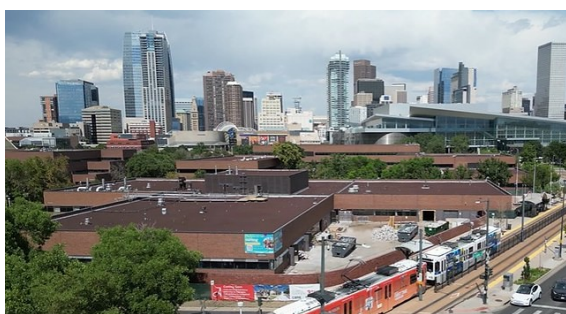

RTD Transit Police have launched a new Bus and Rail Impact Team (BRIT) to boost safety and visibility in busy areas across the system. The team focuses on patrolling hot spots, riding key routes, and supporting big events, based on security data and feedback from operators and customers.

Get the inside look into BRIT

A new fare enforcement task force is also circulating across the system, helping with fare checks and answering questions about riding RTD. These updates come as RTD continues to see positive trends in safety, including fewer security-related calls and continued substantial drops in reports of illicit drug activity.

Fresh tracks coming to Colfax starting June 7

RTD is getting ready to kick off the next round of its Downtown Rail Reconstruction Project on June 7, with work happening near the Colfax at Auraria Station. This multi-year effort is about updating some of the oldest light rail tracks so the system stays reliable for the long haul.

What's happening downtown

Crews will be rebuilding sections along Colfax and inside the Downtown Loop through early 2027, and RTD is phasing the work to keep traffic, businesses, and customers moving as smoothly as possible.

While some rail lines will be paused, RTD is adding service options to help people stay connected throughout construction. Customers can follow along with updates, schedules, and detours anytime at rtd-denver.com/railproject or by signing up for Service Alerts.

Explore Red Rocks, Morrison with new Westracks shuttle

Getting to some of Jefferson County's most popular outdoor destinations will be easier this summer with the new Westracks shuttle supported by RTD's Partnership Program. The no-cost seasonal service connects customers to Red Rocks, Morrison, Dinosaur Ridge, and nearby trailheads.

Launching Memorial Day weekend, Westracks will operate every 15 minutes on Saturdays, Sundays, and holidays from 9 a.m. to 5 p.m. through Labor Day.

East Colfax BRT construction extends full corridor

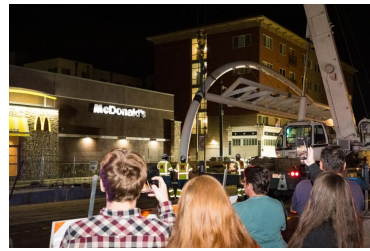

East Colfax construction on the final bus rapid transit (BRT) segment is officially underway in Aurora, marking the start of the project's final segment. With work now active from Denver to Aurora, the entire corridor is buzzing toward completion.

BRT is expected to shave up to 30 minutes off end-to-end travel from Denver to Aurora. Full BRT service will launch once construction is complete across the entire corridor.

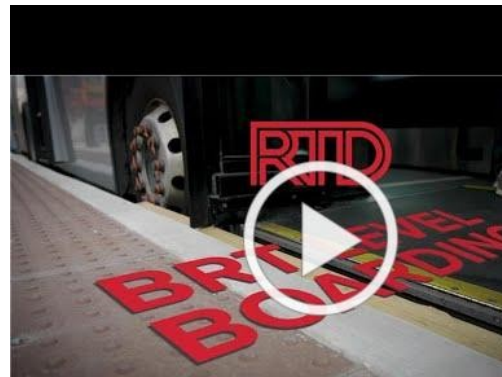

Crews will keep at least one lane open in each direction during the project, and Routes 15 and 15L will continue service with temporary stops as needed.

free way to get around. With one of the largest service areas in the country, RTD bus and rail options extend to more areas than you may have known.

While gas costs rise, RTD's 3-Hour pass is always $2.75, while a Day pass is $5.50 and enables unlimited trips in a 24-hour period. Discounted fares for eligible individuals are available.

RTD begins major transit network redesign

RTD launched an 18 month Comprehensive Operational Analysis (COA) in March to reimagine how its entire transit network should evolve for the region. The effort will assess current bus, rail, and paratransit services, identify where travel patterns have shifted, and explore options to improve reliability and connectivity. The COA will guide service planning from 2028 through 2032 and shape a transit system that better serves the region for years to come.

Early findings will be shared with the public later this year.

LAFAYETTE BOBCAT FOOTBALL

Boulder County youth football since the 1960s · CO Nonprofit · 501c3

Delivered to Louisville City Council — May 19, 2026

Lafayette Bobcat Football is a Colorado 501c3 youth sports nonprofit that has served Boulder County for decades, in continuous good standing with the State since 2003.

We recently asked your staff about placing signs at Louisville fields and were told only co-sponsored organizations may display signage. When we asked how an organization becomes a co-sponsor, two things became apparent.

First, we could not find a written co-sponsorship policy or application process anywhere on the City's website. We've asked staff in writing for a copy of both; we have not yet received a response.

Second, the football co-sponsorship quietly changed hands last summer. The City's website still lists Monarch Youth Football, which has no working website and no Colorado Secretary of State record. Staff has identified the current co-sponsor as Boulder Bears Football, based in Boulder, not Louisville.

Neither the Bobcats nor the Bears exist exclusively for Louisville, nor are either primarily based within the City. We are both your neighbors.

But the Bobcats are deeply connected here. Two of our board members, six of our coaches, and thirty-two of our active players live in Louisville. They go to Louisville schools and want to be represented in their community.

We respectfully ask three things tonight.

One: please direct staff to publish written co-sponsorship criteria and a transparent application process.

Two: once that exists, give the Bobcats fair consideration. We are not asking the City to displace the current co-sponsor, but to be added as an additional football co-sponsor.

Three: in the meantime, please allow the Bobcats to display modest signage at Louisville fields on the same terms as current co-sponsors. It costs the City nothing.

The City's published philosophy on youth sports reads: "To allow all children an opportunity to have fun, participate, and learn fundamental sports skills."

We agree wholeheartedly.

If Council would like more detail on any of the points above, we are happy to provide supporting documentation.

Thank you. You may reach us anytime at board@lafayettebobcats.com.

Hello!

Join us in celebrating Bike to Work Day on June 24! Bike to Work Day is a free, fun annual event hosted by Way to Go, a program of the Denver Regional Council of Governments \(DRCOG\), in partnership with Commuting Solutions and eight regional transportation management associations.

There are several ways to get involved:

- Host a station to support and encourage cyclists in your community
- Take the pledge to ride and commit to biking on June 24
- Participate in the Business Challenge and show your organization's commitment to sustainable commuting

Commuting Solutions will be hosting a breakfast station in partnership with the City and County of Broomfield at Interlocken East Park. Stop by to refuel, connect with fellow riders, and celebrate the benefits of biking.

Whether you're a daily cyclist or trying it out for the first time, Bike to Work Day is a great opportunity to enjoy a healthier, more sustainable commute.

We hope to see you there!

The air pollution is so bad I cannot open my windows. Going outside to get exercise in dangers my health. In the past I was able to open my windows at night and cool down my house so I never needed air-conditioning. Now if I open my windows, my respiratory system is threatened. Running the air-conditioning creates more pollution. It's a vicious cycle and it would be very nice if the City council was concerned about this and was working on the pollution instead of creating more density and more pollution that is endangering the health of the population. Please consider your Citizen's needs and help!!! Work on reducing pollution.

Dear Sustainability Council,
With the ongoing drought, why have we not implemented water restrictions???
Sure we have enough water in storage to get us through the year but what if this is a prolonged drought? Why not be proactive and implement measures to save water today?
Take a drive up to the high country and see for yourselves how bleak and dry our watersheds are.
Please pay homage to your name and start mandating watering restrictions.

Subject: Touch and go training patterns creating safety concerns in Superior
Date: Friday, May 15, 2026 7:03:45 AM

Nathan Zuck,

I'm writing about the touch and go training operations at RMMA that are impacting Superior residents. These flights begin before 6am and continue with extraordinary frequency throughout the day.

Over the past week, I've logged aircraft passing over my neighborhood every minute during peak training periods. That's over 2100 overflights in seven days, most at around 675 feet. This isn't occasional training traffic - it's continuous low-altitude operations with student pilots.

My concern goes beyond noise. The sheer volume of repetitions raises questions about training quality. If students need dozens of practice landings daily, are instructors actually providing correction between attempts, or just having them repeat the same mistakes? The frequency suggests either inadequate instruction or students who aren't ready for solo pattern work.

Additionally, these aircraft aren't following the published noise abatement procedures. They're cutting straight over residential areas rather than using the recommended departure paths.

The combination of inexperienced pilots, extremely low altitudes, and this training volume creates unnecessary risk over populated areas. Pattern training serves an important purpose, but the current intensity and disregard for noise procedures suggests the operation needs review.

Could you evaluate whether this training frequency is appropriate for the airspace and whether noise abatement compliance is being monitored?

Thank you for your time.

Subject: Good morning Mr. Mayor and Louisville city Council

Good morning, Mr. Mayor and city council members
We built our beautiful home here in Louisville in 1991 on Harper Lake Drive, Our home was spared from the fire, just heavy smoke damage, loss of fences and pine trees, watering system, and lighting system.
We just received a notice from our insurance company that we will be dropped due to our trees in our yard.

You may have driven by our home through the years. We were at 1155 Harper Lake Drive we take great pride in our yard and watched our beautiful trees grow for 30 years and keep them trimmed as needed. However, our insurance company feels that they really need to be completely trimmed in a huge manner. We are wondering if there are any funds in the city budget to help us pay for some of this?

It's going to be quite an expense that we have not budgeted and it's also going to make our yard look not as beautiful as it has been. Please feel free to drive by our home and check it out. We are so proud to have lived in Louisville for all these years and love our home and our neighbors.

Let us know if there's something that the city can do to help us in paying for a huge tree trimming. We appreciate your help sincerely, Brad Emrick and Rodney Briggs.

Subject: Our tour at the water treatment and waste water facilities
Date: Thursday, May 14, 2026 9:19:44 AM

My wife and I decided to take advantage of the city's "open house" at the water treatment site and the wastewater facilities yesterday. Although we've lived here almost fifty years, we've never given much thought to either our dependable, clean water nor to our equally dependable waste treatment facilities. Yesterday was an eye-opening experience!

First, we'd like to comment on the city employees that we met. At the water treatment plant, there was Taylor, Vinnie, Max, Isaiah, and several others whose names we did not get. In any event, every person we met on the tour was so smart, kind and so interested and invested in what they were doing — so much enthusiasm and understanding about their jobs and responsibilities.

The water treatment process itself was so much more involved than we could have imagined. So much care given at each step to make sure that water quality was the best that it could be, and each of those people working hard to ensure that the correct procedures were followed, and that standards were met moment to moment. The infrastructure that is necessary for the water treatment is amazing as well. It's so much more than just adding a dash of chlorine to the raw water, isn't it?

Next, we drove over to the wastewater treatment center. Tanner gave us an outstanding tour, showing us everything from start to finish of the waste treatment process. Again, something that we have never given much thought to, but such an important part of well-functioning city services. Driving by it as we often do, we had no idea of what was going on there -- let alone the massive underground pump room, the computer servers, the constant monitoring at each step of the process, the chemistry and the mechanisms. Wow!

It was so clear that Tanner and the other people working at the WWTP were so well trained, so smart about what was happening and how things worked.

Anyway, we thought you should each hear about our experience. There was a very real depth of knowledge and commitment to do the right thing evident with everyone we met at both facilities. Really nice, smart people working hard; proud of what they do and doing work that's critical to our daily lives. Thanks to everyone for making it possible to find out about this part of city services and our thanks to all of those hard working people.

Dear City Council:

I am writing as a concerned citizen to ask you to drop our contract with Flock.

Surveillance is not safety. Automatic license plate readers have become a staple of policing across the US. They scan millions of plates daily, giving police enormous unchecked power that challenges our constitutional rights. Over the last year, thousands of people across the country have risen up and said no to these private, profit-driven companies blanketing our cities, towns, and communities. Contracts are being canceled and we're dismantling the surveillance infrastructure. I hope we in (city name) can join the movement and say no to ALPRs.

Nathan,

Touch and go operations woke me up before 6am this morning. I'm exhausted and can't take much more of this.

Living under your flight path means 2,000 planes flew over my house this week at just 672 feet. During busy times, there's a plane every single minute. The constant roar makes it impossible to sleep, work from home, or even have a conversation in my own backyard.

This airport is destroying the quality of life for an entire neighborhood. Time restrictions on training operations are common sense. Other airports manage to train pilots without torturing residents at dawn.

Please implement reasonable hours for touch and go training. We deserve basic peace in our homes.

Subject: Issues at Coal Creek Golf Course
Date: Tuesday, May 12, 2026 4:22:04 PM

My understanding is hardly any member of the last few city councils plays golf regularly and is somewhat disconnected from Coal Creek Golf Course issues that have arisen in the past few years, especially since the departure of the popular Dave Baril.

I do not play golf. My spouse, Larry Donner, however, does and is a paid "theoretical member" of Wednesday's Senior League. I say theoretical because notifications for Senior sign-ups and other information arrives late or not at all. The current manager of the Senior program has changed the shot gun start for a sequential start. This is particularly frustrating because Larry enjoys an early tee time before it gets blistering hot and the day gets wasted waiting in backed up lines of slow golfers because the course marshals are absent. Phoning to register concerns enter an endless city phone loop or get transferred to an inexperienced staffer who promises someone will get back to you but usually that does not happen in any timely fashion.

My observation is the culture of CCGC is radically different from the friendly, helpful, welcoming place it once was. This was confirmed by a few phone calls this morning to other golfers I know who do not know Larry. (I never trust just one person's perception, even if it's my spouse.) I started with the neutral question "How's it going at the golf course nowadays?" The immediate universal response is "IT SUCKS!!" Two people I called had gotten so disgusted with CCGC, they joined leagues in other places. It appears a quiet city attempt is underway to discourage the locals from using our course in favor of trying to make more money with non-resident golfers. Evidently, this switch is well-known in golfing circles and other local courses are exploiting it to get new Louisville players and league members.

I recognize we have always attempted to have CCGC be self-supporting. I know a huge fight recently erupted over the increase in fees and many would like to see an expanded and improved clubhouse. This email is NOT about those issues. This email is about how the staff treats the resident players. You can mitigate a lot of resentment over anything by simply responding in a timely fashion with a kind, understanding explanation of why you have implemented new strategy and how it may benefit all of us as taxpayers.

PS. I am writing because, unlike Larry who thinks this issue is hopeless, I believe you do care and can do something to correct what has become an obvious slide.

Thank you for your consideration.

Commuting Solutions

Hello!

On April 21, the Town of Erie launched a new FREE microtransit service, the Erie Bee, designed to make getting around the Town of Erie easier, more flexible, and more convenient for residents and visitors.

Part of the Community Transportation Partnerships with Via Mobility Services and support from a Denver Regional Council of Governments grant, the Erie Bee blends the convenience of rideshare with the reliability of public transit to better meet everyday travel needs.

Erie Bee at a glance:

- On-demand shared rides within a defined Erie service zone
- Real-time trip matching and dynamic routing
- Convenient pickup and drop-off locations
- Most trips completed in under 30 minutes

The service supports a wide range on trips including commuting to work or school running errands, attending appointments, and more. The Erie Bee is available to everyone in the service area, with riders aged 13+ able to travel independently.

Getting started:

- Download the app at www.erieco.gov/2626/The-Erie-Bee
- Book rides on-demand or up to seven days in advance
- Call 720-303-9511 for phone reservations

The Erie Bee joins a growing network of microtransit services across the Denver region, expanding mobility options and strengthening connections across communities.

Want to learn more? Visit the Town of Erie's booth at the Erie Town Fair on Saturday, May 16, in Downtown Erie to get details about the service and see an Erie Bee vehicle in person.

Hello!

Reminder that our Open Tour takes place this Wednesday, May 13, as it was postponed due to snow last week. See below for details and RSVP if you plan to come!

See you then ~

Hello!

The Northwest Parkway is an 8.6-mile connection between E-470/I-25 to U.S. 36, serving as a key link in the Denver metro beltway. Even if you haven't heard of us, you've almost certainly driven with us! Our approach at Northwest Parkway is built on partnership. Day to day, we coordinate with neighboring roadways, including E-470, to keep the regional transportation system running smoothly. However, our partnership doesn't end with the road. At the Northwest Parkway, we make our community our priority, and are therefore excited to open our doors to you!

We are writing to you today to invite you to Northwest Parkway's May 13 Open Tour. We'd love for local media to come to the Open Tour, as an opportunity to get to know Northwest Parkway, our staff, and the work that goes into keeping this corridor running every day. It's a chance to explore the facility, connect with our leadership and team, and come away with a fuller picture of who we are and what we do.

Open Tour is part of a global event sponsored by our parent company, VINCI Highways, with activities taking place everywhere from Greece to Colombia, including right here in Broomfield, Colorado. Our annual Open Tour gives members of the public a rare chance to see how toll operations work from the inside, offering opportunities to meet the staff behind the highway, learn how we keep drivers safe, and get a closer look at how we run our day-to-day operations.

WHEN: May 13th, from 12pm to 2pm MT

WHERE: 1760 W 160th Ave., Broomfield, CO 80023

RSVP: FORM LINK

Northwest Parkway's Open Tour will include opportunities to explore our underground tollway museum, meet our staff, and get a behind-the-scenes look at a day in the life of the Northwest Parkway.

What to expect:

- 12pm-12:20pm: Maintenance yard: Welcome! (refreshments available)
- 12:20pm-12:50pm: Behind the scenes with maintenance staff
- 12:50pm-1:20pm: Demonstration from North Metro Fire
- 1:20pm-2pm: Admin building: Overview of operations followed by a museum tour

RSVP: FORM LINK

We look forward to seeing you!

Good afternoon,

You are receiving this email because you have been recommended as a candidate for the Historic Preservation Tax Task Force. Thank you!

City Council will make appointments to the task force during the May 12th meeting this Tuesday night. For more information on that meeting, see the agenda and packet here: City Council Meeting • Agendas & Minutes • CivicClerk

At this point in time, there are more volunteers than anticipated task force positions. We will reach out to confirm appointments once Council has made their decision and want to thank you all, whether appointed or not, for your engagement on this subject and willingness to volunteer. If you are not appointed, you are still very welcome to review materials and provide feedback and recommendations to Council via email or during their meetings.

The first Task Force meeting is May 13th, at 4PM, at City Hall in Council Chambers, and the agenda and packet can be found here: Historic Preservation Tax Task Force • Agendas & Minutes • CivicClerk.

Please review these materials. We encourage questions in advance, as that allows staff to have the opportunity to review and provide responses. Please send any questions you have to me and I will coordinate with the team.

Date: Friday, May 8, 2026 4:44:06 PM

Dear Council Members,

I find it difficult to understand how you think it is appropriate to raise utility rates again, given last year's rate increase. My monthly utility bill increased from about $78 to $98—an increase of 25%—for one person.

I imagine for the wealthy members of our community—including the sitting member of the council—another $15 or $20 a month doesn't mean much. But for low- and moderate-income families, especially seniors on fixed incomes, who are already struggling with significantly higher property taxes and homeowners' insurance, or higher rents, not to mention ongoing inflation at the grocery store and gas station, this additional burden is far from trivial.

At a time when you believe it is appropriate to return taxpayer money to some of the wealthiest homeowners in the community, especially those who are receiving additional compensation from their insurance companies and lawsuits, it is unacceptable to raise utility rates, which are essential services for our most vulnerable residents.

If you must raise rates, you should provide waivers or offer funding to low- and moderate-income community members who are disproportionately impacted by these fees. These are residents facing a significant financial hardship. The city offered homeowners facing financial hardship financial assistance to rebuild their homes. Shouldn't we do the same for our low- and moderate-income residents who are struggling financially?

Along these lines, your “Drippy” example is offensive.

Not everyone in this town earns over the $250K annually, which is now required to afford a home here.

- Every policy decision you make should be evaluated by its impacts on our low- and moderate-income residents.

- Every policy decision should include support for these residents, whether that is utility rate waivers or funding for excess home maintenance expenses due to fire-hardening requirements.

As elected officials, you have an obligation to serve all members of this community, whether or not they have the time, resources, knowledge, sophistication, or confidence to email you, show up at council meetings, protest, or personally lobby you.

Furthermore, if you cannot address these issues to support existing residents, any discussion of providing affordable housing for new residents is hypocritical and performative.

Respectfully,
Maxine Most

Utility rate adjustments will reflect on June bills

New water, wastewater, and stormwater rates

The City Council recently approved rate adjustments for water, wastewater, and stormwater utility service. The adjustments are needed primarily to continue to fund major reconstruction projects, to ensure the City can properly maintain our utility systems, and to meet all clean water regulations. If you have questions, please contact Utility Billing at 303.335.4501 or CustomerService@LouisvilleCO.gov.

What does this mean for my utility bill?

The new rates are effective in May, and you'll see the changes reflected on your June bill. Approved increases are 10% for water, 18% for wastewater, and 13% for stormwater.

An example of these increases on a monthly utility bill for our average water customer is: Water service increase from $50.32 to $55.39 per month, wastewater service increase from $45.21 to $53.40 per month, and stormwater service increase from $8.71 to $9.84 per month. Overall, the average monthly utility bill is expected to increase from $104.24 in 2025 to $118.63 in 2026, an increase of $14.39 per month.

This is just an example based on average water use — the exact impact to your bill will depend on how much water your household uses.

What is the basis for these rate adjustments?

We've all experienced inflation in the form of increased costs for the goods and services we buy. Similarly, the City of Louisville experiences increases in our costs to provide and maintain service as well as the cost of constructing capital improvements. In many cases, these increases have outpaced estimates, necessitating a rate adjustment. We don't take rate adjustments lightly. While City staff is always working to contain and reduce costs, we utilize a Utility Financial Model during the annual budget process to determine the rates necessary to collect enough revenue to meet each of the respective services' operations, maintenance, debt obligations, and improvements expenses.

Ways to save on your water bill

The best way to save money, is to save water. Take a look at the average utility bill for our most efficient customer, Drippy. On average, Drippy pays $21.87 for water, $21.40 for wastewater, and $8.71 for stormwater, equaling about $51.98 per month.

Drippy saves water (and money!) by fixing leaks quickly, using water wisely, and taking advantage of water-saving programs offered by the City. Learn more about programs like sprinkler assessments, lawn replacement, and waterwise yard improvements at LouisvilleCO.gov/Sustainability.

water meter replacement starting summer 2026

Water Meter Replacement project starts in June

Starting this summer, the City will be working with DB Utility on a water meter replacement project. The new water meters will improve accuracy, detect water issues early, and help us better plan for Louisville's future water needs. Every water meter in the City will be replaced, and we need your help to ensure your replacement is smooth, easy, and on your schedule.

All water customers (except those that live in a Marshall Fire rebuild area or have an outdoor water meter) must make an appointment for a technician to replace your water meter.

WHAT TO EXPECT

- Brief Service Interruption: There will be a short disruption to your water service during the meter replacement. We'll do our best to keep this as brief as possible.
- Homeowner Presence Required: A homeowner (or business owner) or adult (18+) must be present at the time of the appointment.

- Meter Access Needed: Our crews will need clear and safe access to your water meter. Please ensure pets are secured and any obstructions are removed before your scheduled appointment. Most water meters are located inside your home or in your front yard. If your meter is in your front yard, you do not need to schedule an appointment.
- Marshall Fire Rebuild area customers and those with meters in their yard do not need to schedule an appointment. If you live in the Marshall Fire rebuild area or your meter is located in your front yard, our technicians will not need access to your home. We will knock on your door to let you know when we are accessing your front yard. If you are not home, we will replace your meter and leave a door hanger letting you know it was replaced.

READY TO SCHEDULE YOUR APPOINTMENT?

Choose an appointment time that works best for you online or by phone.

- Online: DBU.FieldManagementSystems.com
- Phone: (303) 900-8246 (open Monday–Friday, 8 a.m. to 5 p.m.)

I am writing because I just read an article about a joint Superior and Louisville Marshall Fire Memorial that is anticipated to cost between 4-5 million dollars. I am beyond appalled. I am shocked. I am angry. And I am very sad. We have citizens who have basic needs that go unmet every single day. We have people without housing. We have people without food. We have people without healthcare insurance who get sicker and sicker because their basic needs are not met.

I lost my home in the Marshall Fire. I do not need a memorial. I live it every single day.

I am 100% opposed to this ridiculous waste of money.

If the two cities are able to raise this kind of money from donors please have that money go to those in need of food and housing and healthcare.

Please reconsider this plan.

Thank you,

Hello,

I hope I am sending this email to the right place. I live in Louisville, and we recently switched to fiber for our internet. I know the fiber install was a fairly big project that we were excited about to get better speeds at a better price. However, since switching we are experiencing frequent internet loss (multiple times a week for hours). T-Mobile has been responsive but are not finding outages on their end. Neither T-mobile nor my partner can reach Intrepid to try and get support to check if there is line damage or other issues with the infrastructure.

This has been incredibly frustrating, especially for my partner who works from home and relies on internet access for his work.

Since this was a city wide install vs something specific to our house, I wanted to reach out and see if anything could be done by the city to reach intrepid so they can ensure proper integrity of the lines and proper infrastructure.

Any help/advice would be appreciated.

Thank you,
Rebecca Eells, PhD

I plan to do public comments this evening about the Louisville Spring Get-Together and the Community Event Sponsorship program but I thought you'd be interested to see the attached flyer I've been distributing to business and organizations about participating in the event, as well as the attached approved site plan.

I hope many of you will be able to attend, especially during the introductions from about 2:05 to 2:35.

We'll be adding the planned exhibitors to the event web page in a few days.

Participation options for businesses, non-profits & others

We want to strongly support local businesses, non-profits and others helping residents. We expect 300-500 attendees. The City of Louisville provided a Community Event Sponsorship grant and some support for the event so we are not seeking sponsors. Here are some options for participating (all are free):

- Demonstration (e.g. ebike safety)
- Activity (e.g., arts & crafts)
- Reserve an exhibitor spot for a table, chairs and/or tent (with weighted bags ... no stakes) perhaps with free samples (e.g., food), free giveaways and/or discount coupons
- Intro yourself and what you do when all attendees are given an opportunity to briefly introduce themselves
- Even if you can't attend: donate one or more gift cards and/or discount coupons as prizes for one or more of the scheduled activities, and/or, provide promotional materials at a table set up for businesses, organizations, etc.
- Participating businesses, organizations, etc. will be listed on the event web page including descriptions and URL's as appropriate.

The site plan, with numbered exhibitor spots, accompanies this flyer. Volunteers will be available starting at 11:30 to help exhibitors unload tables, etc. from their vehicles, find their spot and set up, and, starting at 4 p.m. to help exhibitors take down tables, etc. and load them into their vehicles.

To reserve a spot, ask questions, suggest a demonstration/activity, and/or volunteer, contact Don Parcher at donparcher@gmail.com, 619 987-5434.

Coal Creek Golf Course News

May 5, 2026

Coal Creek Golf Course is closed on Wednesday, May 6.

What a lovely winter we are having this spring!

Due to forecasted rain and snow, the course will be closed on Wednesday, May 6, including:

- Driving Range Closed
- Restaurant Closed
- Golf Shop Closed

Of course the fairways are thrilled! This is exactly the moisture we need, and we're looking forward to watching everything green up over the coming weeks.

Website Maintenance Notice

We'll also be using the day to complete some website maintenance, so CoalCreekGolf.com will be offline on Wednesday as well. We expect to be back in play on Thursday with a refreshed experience.

Tee times can be booked, modified, or cancelled on our mobile app or tee sheet.

Thanks for your flexibility as Colorado does what Colorado does. The good news? The forecast is in the 70s starting on Friday, so we should be back out on the course playing spring golf in a few days.

Greetings:

I'm reaching out to invite you to participate in the 5th Infraday Mountain States, taking place June 2–3 at Mile High Station in Denver.

Infraday convenes senior leaders across transportation, utilities, energy, water, digital infrastructure, and capital programs to focus on how infrastructure is actually being delivered across the Mountain West—where systems are under pressure, where investment is flowing, and how projects are getting built in practice.

More detail here: www.infraday.com/mst

We're finalizing speakers across the following sessions, and I would like to invite you or the most appropriate member/s of your team to consider joining one of the following panels.

Additionally, if you have an interest in attending, please let me know as public sector attends at no cost and I would be happy to generate a ticket and send across.

Day 1 — June 2 | Growth, Systems & Delivery

9:00 – 9:30 AM

The Mountain West Surge — Growth, Load & System Constraints

9:30 – 10:00 AM

Managing Capital at Scale — From Projects to Portfolios

10:00 – 10:30 AM

Transportation, Freight & Regional Mobility Systems

11:00 – 11:30 AM

Water, Scarcity & Western Resilience

11:30 AM – 12:00 PM

Power, Transmission & Industrial Load Growth

12:00 – 12:20 PM

Presentation: Digital Delivery at Scale — Connecting the Infrastructure Stack

1:20 – 1:40 PM

Presentation: AI in Infrastructure — Real Applications in the Field

1:40 – 2:10 PM

Housing Growth vs. Infrastructure Reality

2:10 – 2:40 PM

Broadband, Fiber & Digital Infrastructure

2:40 – 3:10 PM

Industrial Development, Site Selection & Infrastructure Readiness

3:40 – 4:10 PM

Alternative Delivery — What Actually Works Now

4:10 – 4:40 PM

Robotics, Automation & Field Execution

4:40 – 5:10 PM

Materials, Supply Chain & Cost Pressure

Day 2 — June 3 | Capital, Utilities & System Risk

9:00 – 9:30 AM

The Next Capital Cycle — Funding Infrastructure in the Mountain West

9:30 – 10:00 AM

Power, Water & Wire — The Data Center Reality

10:00 – 10:20 AM

Presentation: AI + Program Controls — The New Operating System

10:50 – 11:20 AM

Utilities, Cities & Developers — Who Actually Coordinates Growth

11:20 – 11:50 AM

Grid Resilience, Climate Risk & System Hardening

11:50 AM – 12:20 PM

Airports, Logistics & Regional Economic Infrastructure

1:20 – 1:40 PM

Presentation: From Projects to Platforms — The Future of Delivery

1:40 – 2:10 PM

Cybersecurity & Infrastructure Risk

2:10 – 2:40 PM

Workforce, Labor & the Delivery Bottleneck

2:40 – 3:10 PM

What Actually Gets Built — Decision-Making in a Constrained World

We're also offering a limited number of 20-minute standalone project presentations for leaders delivering major programs, innovative projects, or technologies shaping infrastructure across the Mountain West.

From a logistics standpoint:

- I will be sending out panel introductions on May 22, and we'll hold brief prep calls the week prior via Zoom to align on topics and discussion flow
- Panels are structured as moderated Q&A conversations — no formal presentations required
- Registration fees are fully waived for speakers

Please let me know if you'd be open to participating — I think your perspective would add a lot to this conversation.

Dear Council Members,

As a resident of Cornerstone and Ward 2, I am pleased to hear that sidewalk repairs and repaving will soon begin in our neighborhood and across the city. This project is essential, as many of our roads and sidewalks are uneven and require maintenance. I am unable to attend the community meeting tonight about this so I am sharing my thoughts this way.

I hope this work proceeds promptly to ensure that any FEMA funding allocated for this project is utilized before it expires. Given the significant costs associated with these improvements, these funds are vital for the city.

Buenas tardes from Costa Rica,

Following Colorado, Arizona, as well as other Texas communities' water situations, I would like to offer my 50 plus years of knowledge and experience in providing decentralized/onsite water treatment and recycling solutions to your attention.

Please take some time to review Patented and Proven sanitation, rainwater/greywater ozone and reverse osmosis treatment and recycling technologies to potable water quality inventions.

At 78 years old, living in Costa Rica, a Disabled American Veteran, 3 patents in "Water and Wastewater Treatment and Recycling", at your convenience, I would like to invite you to enjoy a cup of rainwater Costa Rican coffee in San Rafael de Alajuela, Costa Rica. 15 minutes from the San Jose airport.

My interest is inviting interested persons and communities to visit with me in Costa Rica to physically observe and taste "decentralized/onsite", technological, economic and environmental achievements utilizing the capabilities of small scale, inexpensive to purchase and operate, ozone and reverse osmosis.

Over the past twenty years I have had the opportunity of working with ozone technologies for not only my rainwater/greywater invention, but also for swimming pools and laundries in reducing the need for chemicals by over 90% with better results.

With all due respect for the advancements that have been achieved with piped water and sewer technologies, the work and the ozone/RO treatment and recycling technologies I have spent my life developing can provide immediate local economic development as well as water and sanitation solutions.

My permanent relocation to Costa Rica provided me with the need to reinvent my technologies utilizing locally available recycled IBC 1,00-liter tanks and 55 gallon drums, which reduced manufacturing costs dramatically and provided for local manufacturing capabilities worldwide.

The most expensive components of my rainwater/greywater treatment and recycling technologies are the ozone components, with a complete system, locally manufactured cost less than $5,000.00 anywhere in the world.

Presently, we are working on the internet capabilities for monitoring and maintenance, which then becomes the "infrastructure" for local community decentralized/onsite water, sanitation and energy capabilities.

Attached is a little history on the development of technologies I have pursued over the past decades.

If you, or anyone would like to ask me any questions, we can use Whatsapp effectively with voice and the video capabilities.

Patented and Proven Decentralized/Onsite Water and “Resource” Water Treatment and “Recycling” Technologies

Legal action comes as centralized wastewater treatment sludge has contaminated farmland across the country, sickening farmers, killing live-stock, polluting drinking water, contaminating meat sold to the public, tainting crops and destroying farmers’ livelihoods.

Dear City Council,

I took a look at the Redtail Ridge trail widths diagram that is slated to be reviewed at your meeting on Monday. I noticed that even though the open space advisory board advocated for an underpass at Rockcress Dr. and Northwest Parkway and made this opinion known on multiple occasions, that underpass has not made it into the trail plans. I see this as a significant oversight given that the southeast corner of the property where this intersection is located will be a major entrance to the property including traffic for the relocated Avista Hospital. Having multimodal traffic on the primary north/side trail on the east side of the property cross at street level is not ideal and with ambulances and other traffic potentially coming off of the parkway at a high rate of speed this could put pedestrians and cyclists at risk. Is there any way that this underpass could be built before it is too late in the construction process?

Not on the agenda: A comprehensive year round short-term rental policy

Mayor and members of the City Council,

I want Louisville to thrive.

A little more than a year ago we were discussing ADU's. Louisville was the only community of our peers that did not have an ADU policy. I felt like Louisville was in last place.

Today its short-term rentals (STRs). Louisville is the only community of our peers without a 12-month short term rental policy. Again, I feel like Louisville is in last place.

Is this a pattern?

Many visitors to Louisville prefer to stay in short-term rentals. There is clearly a market. Additionally, there is a benefit to residents who wish to operate STRs. There are economic benefits to businesses and to the City. So why would the City wish to stifle economic vitality by prohibiting STRs? Why enforce an outdated code that negatively impacts our community?

This is an indicator of a broader problem. Our outdated zoning code is preventing us from thriving. The zoning code was intended to safeguard our general welfare, but it is doing the opposite - threatening our welfare.

Recommendations:

Develop a comprehensive STR policy now

Please do not wait for the entire zoning code to be rewritten to address STRs. A policy should be developed and implemented ASAP.

Moratorium on Enforcement

Strating immediately, there should be a moratorium on enforcement until a comprehensive policy is developed and implemented. This will allow visitors to stay in our town and contribute to our economy.

Complaint protocol

An enforcement moratorium does not mean the City should just ignore resident's complaints regarding STRs if they arise. City planners should use their planning skills to mediate and resolve complaint issues. Noise, light, parking and similar nuisances are items planners know how to deal with. Zoning is not planning and we need to shift staff's time and resources away from zoning management toward planning that will benefit the community.

This issue highlights the fact that we have a lot of work to do to overcome the inertia and legacy of use segregation. We not only need to rewrite our zoning code, but also to shift the way "planning" has been traditionally done, towards a role that is more engaged and actively responds to the needs of our community. This is a vision for a new style of local government that is needed for our post suburban sprawl future.

I appreciate all the work you do for the City and I know you have many things on your upcoming agendas. I hope this item can be included soon.

Thank you,

Peter Stewart

SPRING ART SHOW

MAY 1ST 2026 6PM - 8:30PM

LIVE MUSIC BY JEFF HAYCOCK

MIANGELO

Miangelo (Mia Sole) is a contemporary abstract artist whose vibrant work explores color, movement and emotional atmosphere through flowing forms and intuitive composition. Her exhibition, "Art in Evolution" reflects the transformation of her visual language and the dynamic relationship between energy, form, and joyful expression.

Gary Markowitz

Gary's work explores beauty, mystery, and spirit through abstraction and figurative painting. Guided by intuition, he builds layered, emotional narratives.

Working across multiple series, he treats art as meditation and dialogue. Exhibited internationally, his practice invites contemplation, connecting the personal and universal through a lifelong devotion to art.

Kathleen LeRoy

As a contemporary abstract artist Kathleen uses form, symbol, and color on wood to ignite a sense of curiosity, allowing the viewer the freedom to see and feel what resonates with them. She is deeply influenced by the beautiful mountains and the ever-changing light of the American West.

Louisville! Discover how Americans and Louisville residents of the past have exercised this important right by establishing newspapers and circulating opinions and ideas. Make your own voice heard by viewing and learning how to write with historic typewriters!

History Happy Hour: The Memory of Place with Amy Haines

May 6th 5:30-7pm

Louisville Underground, 640 Main St.

Historian Amy Haines will lead a community discussion about the ways that places hold memories and the way our memories hold places. She'll share ideas about how urban landscapes can be considered places of public and private history and offer suggestions on ways we can think about how our own perceptions of place can be interpreted. Grab a drink and listen to this talk at Louisville Underground, the former location of a very special place in Louisville history, the Blue Parrot!

Historic Preservation Landmark Plaque Ceremony and Walking Tour

May 13th 6 – 7:30pm

1001 Main St.

Join Historic Preservation and Museum staff to celebrate all the new Louisville Historical Landmarks! Meet for light refreshments in the Museum courtyard at 6 PM, followed by a walk around Old Town to the landmarked properties.

Pop-up Quilting Workshops

May 20 | 3:30–5 p.m.

Summer Preschool Program: Growing Things

May 28th 10 – 11am

1001 Main St.

Thursday, May 28 is the first in a preschool series utilizing the power of nature play to learn about outdoor history in Louisville. Explore gardening, plant your own seedling, decorate rocks for the garden and take-home herbs and tomatoes for a homemade pizza! This program series combines structured play, unstructured nature play, story-time, and hands-on-crafts. Classes will run through August, attend one or many. Please ONLY register for children who are participating in the crafts. Accompanying adults, siblings, and babies do not need to register.

Walking Tour: Capitol Hill

May 30th 9 – 10am

Corner of LaFarge Avenue and Short St.

Explore Louisville's Capitol Hill neighborhood on this walking tour with Diane Marino! Capitol Hill showcases homes built in the early decades of the 20th century when Louisville was growing and downtown businesses were thriving. Business owners and community leaders moved their families into newer, larger, and more affluent homes that contrasted with smaller homes in neighborhoods of the late 1800's and early 1900's. This tour uncovers the stories behind the homes, the families who resided in them, and their place in Louisville history. Meet at the corner of LaFarge Ave and Short Street. Registration is required at LouisvilleCo.Gov/MuseumEvents.

Tidbits

Historic Property

The D'Agostino House
1245 Grant St.

The D'Agostino House at 1245 Grant St. is another great example of a house that was moved to Louisville. While the construction date is unknown, the Boulder County Assessor card indicates that in 1927 the house was moved from a mining camp to its current location in the Nicola Di Giacomo Addition of Louisville. In 1922, Annie Patete purchased the entire block around this property and then her children built homes within the block. In 1927, Annie Patete conveyed the property at 1245 Grant St. to her daughter and French son-in-law, Angelina and Louis D'Agostino, the same year the house was moved. Louis D'Agostino worked in a mine until the work caused his health to fail and then he operated a poultry farm on his property, providing fresh eggs to Louisville residents and local businesses. The couple lived in this home from 1927 until their deaths in the early 1980s.
